FOREWORD

The rejuvenation of Afghanistan depends on the preparation of its human resources; and this preparation requires that all segments of the society have access to information.

Many types of information are needed. If every Afghan is to take part in rebuilding the nation, books and documents that address basic needs on all levels, in every sector, are as necessary as technical reference works for professionals. If basic messages are to be transmitted effectively, training manuals in each field are essential. If programme designers are to plan successfully, they must have overviews, surveys, statistics and maps so as to analyze needs in each region. If development is to be evenly applied, implementors as well as planners must be aware of each and every effort in order to coordinate.

Furthermore, technical proficiency is only one aspect of restoring confidence and self-esteem. Equally important is a knowledge of Afghan history, archaeology, literature, folklore, ethnology, and the cultural heritage in general.

ARIC is dedicated to collecting and providing this wide range of information in both Western and Afghan languages. That the collection is unique is amply illustrated by these two volumes listing ARIC's current holdings. To fulfill its objectives, however, the collection must be used. Although the staff is proud of the efficiency with which the materials are arranged, they are happiest when readers ask them to take documents off the shelves. We hope that these reference volumes will encourage readers in ever increasing numbers to do just that.

PREFACE

We have the pleasure to prepare and present the first edition of "Five thousand documents available at ARIC". As the name implies, this bibliography contains five thousands titles. ARIC's collection contains more than this number of documents; titles not included in this edition will be published in subsequent editions as new material arrive. It is our hope that you will find this publication useful and informative.

ARIC was established on the recommendation of ACBAR's Library Sub-Committee under the direction of Regine Mounier in 1989. Since its formation, ARIC has provided many services for the aid community assisting Afghan refugees in Pakistan and organizations working for the reconstruction of Afghanistan.

A standard cataloging system was introduced with the assistance of Mr. Chris Nelson an Australian library specialist, when he worked with ARIC from January 1990 to January 1992.

All materials at ARIC are catalogued according to international standards. The classified numbering system which is compatible with systems devised by the Bibliotheca Afghanica in Switzerland was prepared by the staff at ARIC. Library of Congress subject headings are added to supplement classification numbers.

ARIC collects documents from all institutions concerned with Afghanistan which are relevant to the needs of the aid community. These materials include books, reports, articles, reference works, maps, gazetteers, journals, statistics, posters, calendars and press clippings, as well as video and audio cassettes, slides and instructional materials.

The documents are catalogued in a database computer program from which bibliographic reports can be generated for any field or combination of fields (authors, subjects, titles, agencies, publication dates, etc.)

This bibliography is designed to be very simple. The purpose of this bibliography is to provide readers with a quick reference and an up-to-date classified list in Afghan and western languages. Most of these materials are about Afghanistan and are used by researchers and NGOs to further development in Afghanistan.

This bibliography contains about 500 pages and is prepared in two volumes. Volume one lists the documents in Western languages. About 90% of this section is in English. Volume two records ARIC's holdings in Afghan Languages. The titles of the documents are translated into English, because ARIC does not as yet have a database computer program in Dari or Pashtu. As soon as we find an appropriate database program, we shall produce a list in Dari and Pashtu alphabets.

In each volume the documents are arranged alphabetically in four categories: Author, Subject, Title, and Organization.

All the documents listed in these two volumes are available at ARIC, and may be copied on request. For easy identification, each title is given a call number. In requesting documents, it is enough to mention the call number rather than full titles.

It is a pleasure to express my thanks and appreciation for all the support and assistance we have received. The NGOs have played an active role in enriching our resource center by sending us their documents and other materials related to Afghanistan. Special thanks go to Mr. Chris Nelson who introduced the library system for ARIC; to Mr. Sayed Padshah and Mr. Mohammad Sulaiman, the library assistants, who work very hard in arranging, classifying and cataloguing the documents, and to Mr. Ahmad Shafiq who produces high quality copies of maps, and other documents.

I hope this bibliography serves its purpose to facilitate the use of our materials by researchers and those interested in Afghan affairs.

Mohammad Fahim Rahimyar
Resource Center Manager
